JCPA’s Program Manager for Leadership and Events

The Jewish Council for Public Affairs (JCPA) Program and Policy team seeks a Program Manager to help the organization deepen the impact of its leadership and events programming. The organization engages in strategic community relations. To carry out its mission, JCPA ensures that its lay and professional stakeholders can convene, set priorities, and provides them the skills, knowledge, and hands-on experience necessary to be leaders and effective advocates at the community and national level. As a national network that engages with diverse leaders from all over the country, JCPA’s virtual and in-person programming, as well as the growth of its affinity groups, is essential to our success. JCPA is seeking a Program Manager to help us to continue and enhance our engagement opportunities and educational programming and strengthen and regularize our affinity group work. This position is core to JCPA’s ongoing success and an essential part of the organization.

About JCPA
JCPA is a 78-year-old umbrella organization that convenes the Jewish community relations network of local Jewish community relations councils (JCRCs) and national Jewish member organizations, including the four main denominations of American Judaism (Orthodox, Conservative, Reform and Reconstructionist). Together, we grapple with pressing issues of the day, set policy priorities, and advocate for a just and pluralistic American society, Israel’s quest for peace and security, and human rights around the world in common cause with other faith, racial, ethnic, civic leaders, and policy makers. Our mission is as critical today as when we were created.
